

LORIE LOEB is a Research Professor in the computer science department at Dartmouth College, Director of the Digital Arts Program, the Executive Director of the Digital Arts Leadership and Innovation (DALI) Lab. She is also the President/co-Founder of TellEmotion, Inc, a social entrepreneurship start-up aimed and motivating people to change behavior and conserve resources. Before coming to Dartmouth, Lorie was Senior Research Scientist in the Computer Science Department at Stanford University. She holds two patents, is the recipient of the Fulbright and the Whiting Foundation Fellowships. Lorie is an artist as well as a technologist. Films she worked on won many awards, including two Emmy Awards and a Cine Golden Eagle Award. Films she animated have had screenings at the Museum of Modern Art, the Sundance Film Festival, the NY Film Festival, the London Film Festival and the Whitney Biennial.

At the DALI Lab, students design and develop technology tools that merge art, science, design and technology to help our partners communicate effectively and maximize impact.